Effective Help For ADHD & Learning Issues

ADHD is perhaps the most common diagnosis in school age children. Problems with attention and learning, as well as emotional outbursts are often labeled as ADHD.

Most doctors will treat symptoms with drugs like Ritalin, Adderall and Concerta. But these drugs only mask symptoms: They do not treat the underlying problem.

Permanent Results With Neurofeedback

Neurofeedback is a safe, non-invasive system that corrects irregular brainwaves while your child is engaged with a movie. It's like exercise for the brain. The result is better brain function, which can improve or eliminate symptoms and improve learning abilities. Studies show that Neurofeedback results can last 30 years or longer and may even increase IQ by 10-12 points.

Doctor Approved. Decades of Research

Neurofeedback has been approved by the American Academy of Pediatrics as a Level 1 or "BEST SUPPORT" treatment option for ADHD and learning disabilities. There are over 1600 studies that demonstrate the effectiveness of neurofeedback training, and is currently used by thousands of licensed health professionals throughout the world.

It could be the most important new tool for mental and neurological health available today.

Testimonials

"Our son was showing signs of not being able to focus and pay attention, and I could tell he was starting to get frustrated with it. I heard about neurofeedback from a friend and loved the fact that it involved no medications. Over the course of the treatments I have seen a 100% Improvement in my son. I get less calls from the school about his behavior and he's overall a happy child right now. I could not feel more blessed and excited for his future. For any parent considering an alternative to medications, you need to check neurofeedback out."

I was having problems paying attention in class. As a result my test scores were bad and I couldn't really focus in school. I also had anger problems and felt myself getting on edge very easily.

Since starting neurofeedback my life has improved a lot. I just took my SATs and was able to focus and pay attention through every part of the test. I also am able to calm myself down easier, have more self-control and feel better.

When I put the glasses on and the lights are flickering, I feel like it's stimulating me. None of it is difficult to do, in fact it's kind of fun.
